STREAKY BAY SHELL-A-BRATION

The Streaky Bay Shell-a-bration was a fantastic community celebration, drawing approximately 500 people throughout the day. The atmosphere was vibrant and full of energy, with families, locals, and visitors all coming together to mark the occasion.

The official opening kicked off at 11:30 AM with a Welcome to Country and speeches from representatives of the Wirangu traditional owners, Jaylene and Emily Ware, Mayor Travis Barber, CEO Damian Carter, Maritime Constructions, and local poet Nick Carroll. Their contributions set a meaningful and respectful tone for the day, honouring the cultural significance of the land and the importance of the jetty to the community.

“It was fantastic to have Mayor Barber at the event to deliver a speech and officially cut the ribbon with Emily Ware,” said CEO Damian Carter. “After years of advocacy and lobbying to the state government to secure funding for the jetty’s remediation works, it was fitting for him to be the one to mark this important milestone.”

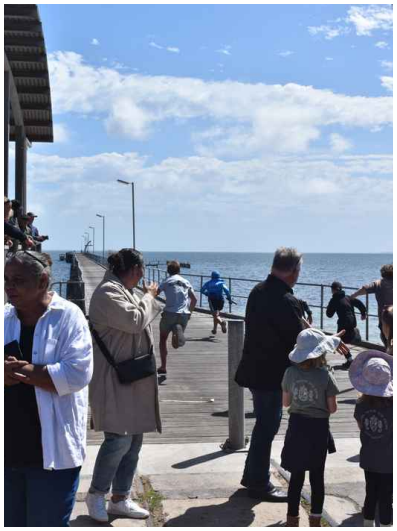

One of the standout moments was the line of excited kids eagerly waiting to get back down the jetty with their fishing rods and trailers in tow, a clear sign of how much this space means to the community. First cast caught the first fish ! It wasn’t just a structure reopening; it was the return of a beloved gathering place. An exciting new addition to the jetty was also unveiled in the beach shower and water fountain, which has been created out of re-purposed timbers from the original jetty by local contractors, something the community has requested for a long time.

The weather couldn’t have been better, adding to the relaxed and festive feel of the day. Local musicians played throughout the event, enhancing the atmosphere, while a great variety of food vans ensured there was something for everyone. The event also featured an impressive mix of government and education stalls, including Surf Life Saving, Stay Afloat, Marine Safety, and Fisheries. The local SES volunteers also in attendance showcasing their new RIB boat. Council had a free scavenger hunt, free face painting, lawn games, and beach activities that kept families entertained. All the stallholders were incredibly supportive and enthusiastic, playing a key role in creating a welcoming and fun environment for everyone.

A major highlight was the scavenger hunt, which attracted 76 children, far exceeding expectations. Each child interacted with every stall as part of the activity, which was designed as a safety and education campaign. It was heartening to see young people engaged, learning, and enjoying themselves at the same time.

Overall, the event was a powerful reminder of the jetty’s significance. Its reopening represents more than just access to the water , it brings back a vital community hub, a space for connection, play, and shared memories. The excitement on the day showed just how much the community values having it back in action.

RODEO BY THE SEA - BULLS BRONCS & BARRELS

Rodeo by the Sea, held on Saturday 18th October 2025 was a great success. The weather was a warm 32°C and the crowd turned up on mass for good time. They got behind the competitors and cheered them on with enthusiasm.

Tickets sales were up on last year and the event attracted 25% more competitors that came from near and far from across the country. Ron Woodall stock contactor said “the increase in competitor numbers validates the quality of the comp in Streaky Bay. The committee puts on a darn good show, and they go out of their way to ensure the cowboys and girls are looked after”.

On the Friday night competitors and visitors were welcomed to town at the Streaky Bay Hotel. A Calcutta was held and raised over $5k with fierce bidding for the top riders. The winners were announced at the rodeo on Saturday night and were two of Streaky Bays favourite locals.

Raffle tickets were sold for the organisers chosen charity, the Royal Flying Doctor Service (RDFS). With the generous support of Baird Bay Experience who put up first prize valued at $650 Swim with the sealions and dolphins experience, along with XXXX Brewing who supplied a 40Lt esky valued at $400 and Perry Fuel Distributors a $100 fuel voucher. The RFDS received $2,754.00 and the rodeo committee are appreciative of the donors and those that purchased tickets or donated to the tins.

Rodeo by the Sea continues to grow and improve its offerings. This year saw the arrival of the Tent Village which offered unique and beautiful accommodation. Another initiative was the introduction of the President’s Bonus, where competitors were selected randomly and awarded a $100 fuel voucher, the committees’ way of saying thank you for making the journey.

Attendees had the opportunity to shop from a number of quality retail vendors selling homewares, western clothing, hats, jewellery and accessories. Southern Rustic came in their fully equipped semi-trailer store; Outback Drover had an impressive offer as did Wylde Revolution and Horns and Hide.

Children enjoyed the activity zone with sideshow games and bouncing castle. At 3.30pm the Best Dressed Cowboy and Cowgirl was judged by reigning Rodeo Queen Mateja Martinovic and her Runner-up Grace Griffith who made the journey across from Victoria to attend the event. Miss Rodeo Australia 2025 Paris Alderton attended too and assisted MC Bryce Dodd call the event. In addition, the committee were delighted to have Miss Rodeo Canada 2025 Codi Wilson in attendance as this attracts international interest to the event.

Nutrien West Coast Ag were the naming right sponsors and not only put up cash but put hours of effort into preparing the venue to ensure the smooth running of the event.

Local, Nutrien West Coast Ag Director Clint McEvoy, along with Abe Waller Nutrien Executive, presented the winner of the Open Bull Ride, Joe Down from Warrnambool Victoria with his trophy.

Everyone was upstanding for the Grand Parade opening ceremony as they were for the Johhny McInnis and Robbie Schmidt Memorial Saddle Bronc event, with a fitting tribute played on the Big Screen. The event was sponsored by Northeast Ceduna Toyota and Ceduna Isuzu Ute.

Northeast Ceduna got right behind the event providing and thrilling the crowd with give-aways and created an impressive vehicle display at the entrance to the arena. General Managers Tony Robinson and Matthew Blums presented the Memorial Trophy to winner Deano Oliver from Echuca, Victoria.

The committee gives a BIG shout out to the Friends of the Rodeo, who have donated time, effort and their services. Without these contributions, it would be very difficult to host an event of this size:

· Noel Dickson from Port Lincoln for providing the sand for the arena
· Venus Plains Logistics for carting sand and hay
· Rob Montgomerie for spreading the sand and the many days working patiently with his bobcat & truck
· Sid Sparks for your electrical services

ARTS UP WORKSHOPS

Creative Energy Fills the Hall for a Week of Art and Workshops

Nearly 500 people visited the Streaky Bay Institute during a vibrant week of art workshops and exhibitions, celebrating creativity, connection, and community spirit.

The event was organised and hosted by the Arts Up Streaky Bay Committee, featuring an incredible lineup of activities, from glass art and copper sheet jewellery making with Julie Wallis, to Yoga Amongst the Art with Eliza, kids' yoga and art with Natasha, Pottery, Mexican Food and Live Music with Kayla from Retro Squid, Wet Felting Basket with Polly Letham, and Posca art workshops for kids with Moth Art.

The talented Lily Legovini also led inspiring adult printmaking and children's art sessions, rounding out a fantastic week of creativity and fun.

INSTEP DANCE CONCERT

Instep's 2025 Annual Concert was a true celebration of creativity, confidence, and community spirit. The event showcased months of dedication from students, volunteer instructors, and committee members, all working together to bring a magical night of dance and drama to life.

This year, the program reached new heights with community workshops that invited young people to explore dance, build confidence, and experience the joy of performance. Instructors also took part in upskilling sessions to strengthen their teaching and choreography skills. These opportunities were proudly supported by The Community Op Shop, the Community Hotels Board Ltd, and Council community grant funding.

Following professional advice, the Instep program was refreshed in 2025 to focus on essential dance skills and strong foundations. The results were clear on stage—students shone with confidence and ability, demonstrating just how far they've come.

A highlight of the evening was Bushland Wonders, a true-blue Aussie twist on Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland. Featuring wombats, koalas, and a cast of imaginative bushland characters, the story reflected both the local landscape and the humour of the young performers who helped shape it. Many of the script's quirks and clever moments came directly from the students' own ideas, giving the production a unique and personal touch.

Behind the scenes, three additional stage hands joined the creative team, adding energy and making the process even smoother and more enjoyable.

In a small town like ours, opportunities like this are something to celebrate. Instep continues to provide a space where young people can express themselves, grow in confidence, and experience the power of performance. The 2025 concert was not just a showcase of talent—it was a shining example of community spirit in action.

PROBUS

October saw a very enthusiastic crowd listening to the art of crochet.

Leah king a local nurse and very talented artist came to give us some insights into her craft. She definitely wowed us with her enthusiasm. The way she taught herself from a few old books was amazing. Leah has been entering in the Artsup Art competition every yr. In 2024 she won People's Choice with her piece 'Ningaloo Passage'. She has taught crochet to many including her daughter, and hopes to inspire more kids to get into croquet and use their hands creatively and Bring the old craft back. The men in our club enjoyed discussing the different fabrics Leah crochets with and where they come from.

October is also Probus month around Aust. To celebrate we went on a wonderful bus trip to Ceduna. We visited Boylan Oysters/Razor fish business at Smoky Bay where some of us enjoyed fresh oysters. Then onto the Mint Bush Aboriginal Art gallery to enjoy the art and a quirky purple garden belonging to Pauline Neilson. Enjoying her hospitality and having afternoon tea.

We enjoyed fun and friendship and had a wonderful day.

INDOOR BOWLS

The past weeks have been significant for the Streaky Bay Indoor Bowling Club. Treasurer Geoff Kain has transferred the 2025/26 membership fees to the parent club, and playing numbers have risen from 16 on 1/10, 21 on 8/10 to 22 on 15/10. A full house would be 24 players but should that number be greater the club can accommodate. Everyone is welcome, experienced player or beginner. Weekly Wednesday play is 3 games of 8 ends.

On 22/10 birthday cakes were on hand for 4 members. Paul 1/11, Geoff 28/10, James 6/10, Darryl 11/10. see photo

Over the past weeks there have been some excellent shots and importantly fewer penalty scores. On each the 1/10 and 8/10 when play finished the scoreboard noted there was one team with 3 wins. This meant outright winners for that day. The shot count was needed on the next two Wednesdays. On 15/10 three teams, each with two wins and a loss had counts of 32, 25 and 23. On 22/10 two teams each with two wins and a loss had total scores of 29 and 27.

Winners were=
Oct 1 = Bev W., Roger, Marlene, John
Oct 8= Connie, Geoff, Jim P., Christine
Oct 15= Shirley, Julie, Nicki
Oct 22= Christine, Roger, Connie

Reminder= Festive lunch date 17/12/25

The Combined Churches are planning a fun activity for everyone. The organization for the Streaky Bay Nativity Trail is well underway. The idea is simple. Each participating business will have a beautiful fluffy lamb in its window or shop, with a name (given by the business). The children of Streaky Bay, and the younger visitors can collect a sheet from any of the Churches or the Information Centre. with this sheet the children find the sheep and note down their names. When they have collected the names of the sheep, they can return it to any of the Churches or the Information Centre to exchange it for a Goodie Bag. The Children's Service on Christmas Eve would be a good time to collect the Goodie Bag.

If you are young at heart, you may enjoy looking for the sheep around the shopping centre too! Sheep will be on show from 1st December to Christmas Eve.
So, keep your eye out for the fluffy sheep in town. Tey are very cute.

FROM THE CEO'S DESK

To Chop, or Not to Chop"

Every now and then, Council receives questions from residents asking, "Why was that tree chopped down?" or "Why hasn't that dead tree out of town been removed yet?"
It's a fair question — and one that doesn't always have a simple answer. The decision of whether to chop, or not to chop, a tree involves balancing community safety, environmental values, and regulatory responsibilities.

When safety comes first
Council's first and most important consideration is always public safety. Trees located within townships or other built-up areas — near houses, roads, footpaths, parks, or playgrounds — are regularly assessed for their health and stability.
If a tree is dead, dying, or structurally unstable and there's a reasonable risk it could fall or drop large limbs, it will most likely be removed. This is particularly the case where there's potential to injure someone or damage property or public infrastructure.
High winds, storms, and dry conditions can accelerate deterioration in trees that are already weakened. Taking a proactive approach helps Council reduce the risk of accidents before they happen, especially in areas with regular pedestrian or vehicle activity.

However, not every dead tree is destined for removal. In fact, many are intentionally left standing — especially those located outside township areas, such as along rural roadsides or open spaces, where they pose little to no threat to people or property.

Dead and hollow trees can provide critical habitat for local wildlife, including native birds, bats, and small mammals. Hollows can take decades, sometimes even centuries, to form — making standing dead trees incredibly valuable for biodiversity.

So, when you see dead trees standing as you drive into Streaky Bay or along our district roads, they often remain because they're safe in their location and serve an ecological purpose.

The role of regulation
There are also important legal considerations that guide how Council manages vegetation. Under the Local Government Act 1999 (SA), Council has a duty of care to maintain its public places in a safe condition. This includes taking reasonable steps to remove or mitigate risks from unsafe trees.

At the same time, the Native Vegetation Act 1991 (SA) and incoming Biodiversity Act 2025 (SA) protects native trees and vegetation, requiring that any clearance — including the removal of dead native trees — be justified and compliant with environmental regulations. This ensures that removals are only undertaken when necessary, such as for safety, infrastructure maintenance, or public works.

Council's tree management practices aim to satisfy both sets of obligations: keeping people safe while also respecting and protecting the natural environment.

Balancing risk and value
Ultimately, deciding "to chop, or not to chop" is a matter of balance. It's about weighing the risks posed to people and property against the environmental and habitat values a tree provides.

Council staff and contractors assess trees on a case-by-case basis, often considering:

- The tree's health and structural integrity
- Its proximity to buildings, roads, or footpaths
- Its importance as wildlife habitat
- Whether mitigation options (like pruning or fencing) can reduce risk without full removal

This balanced approach ensures decisions are not made lightly — but rather with thought, evidence, and care for both people and place.

A shared landscape
Trees, both living and dead, are part of what gives our district its unique beauty and character. They frame our landscapes, provide shade, shelter, and homes for wildlife, and connect us to the natural history of our area.

As a community, we all benefit from maintaining that connection — but we also share a responsibility to look after each other's safety. Council's approach to tree management aims to respect both those values: protecting people and preserving the environment that makes Streaky Bay such a special place to live.

So next time you notice a tree being removed, or a dead one still standing, you'll know there's usually more behind the decision than meets the eye. It's all part of the delicate balance that comes with the question: to chop, or not to chop?

COMMUNITY GARDEN UPDATE

The Old Bowls Greens in Streaky Bay are coming back to life, not with sport, but with soil, seedlings, and a shared sense of purpose. Over the past month, locals may have noticed a hive of activity at the greens along Montgomerie Tce as Thrive and the District Council of Streaky Bay officially broke ground on the long-anticipated Community Garden Project.

Thanks to the energy and dedication of a passionate group of volunteers, the space is already taking shape. Together, they've completed six IBC wicking garden beds, a water-wise feature designed to conserve moisture and promote sustainable growing practices, a perfect fit for our coastal climate. The group hopes to incorporate many more environmentally friendly focused initiatives such as this in the future.

This project has been made possible through funding from the Department of Human Services (DHS) via the Thrive partnership as well as funding from The District Council of Streaky Bay and support through the Wellbeing Project. The Wellbeing Project Officer has been busy leading the project through facilitating its planning, budget and volunteer management and looks forward to the final creation of this new community space which will continue to nurture the community's wellbeing through many future programs and activities.

While raised beds and soil are the visible parts of this transformation, the garden's real roots lie in connection, wellbeing, and inclusion.

The Community Garden aims to provide a welcoming space where people of all ages can come together, to learn, to share, and to reconnect with nature and each other. Whether it's the joy of watching seedlings sprout, the satisfaction of working with your hands, or the quiet peace of sitting among greenery, the garden is designed to nurture both plants and people.

"Community gardens are about more than growing food. They grow friendships, confidence, and a sense of belonging. This space is for everyone, a place to be active, to relax, to learn, and to feel part of something meaningful."

Streaky Sounds Music Festival Returns for Its Fourth Year in 2026!

The much-loved Streaky Sounds Music Festival will return for its fourth year on Sunday, 8 March 2026, at the Streaky Bay Oval, promising another unforgettable day of live music, community celebration, and family fun.

The District Council of Streaky Bay is excited to announce that the festival has been successful in securing funding through the Drought Relief Regional Event Fund, delivered by the South Australian Tourism Commission. This funding will support several aspects of the festival, including free children's entertainment, investment in local artists, and improvements to festival infrastructure, making the event more inclusive, accessible, and enjoyable for everyone across the region.

Mayor Travis Barber said the funding recognition highlights the festival's importance to the region.

"Streaky Sounds has become a real highlight on our calendar, it's a day where locals and visitors come together to celebrate music, community and everything that makes Streaky Bay special," Mayor Barber said.

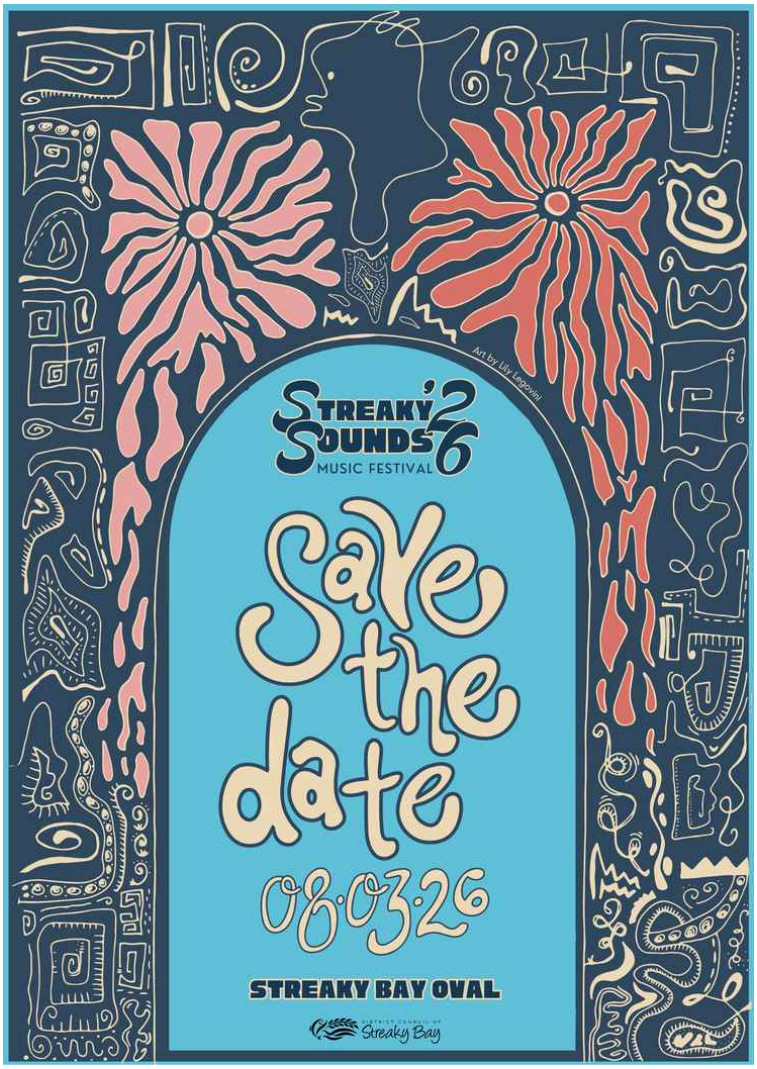

"This funding means we can make the event even more accessible for attendees and ensure that everyone, no matter their circumstances, can be part of the experience. It's a great example of how regional events can bring people together, support local talent, boost the local economy and attract visitors to our town, all while showcasing the unique spirit of our community. With this support, we're also able to enhance festival infrastructure and deliver a more sustainable and enjoyable experience for everyone."

Delivered by the South Australian Tourism Commission, the Drought Relief Regional Event Fund provides financial support to regional events that engage communities, foster connection, drive visitation, and build resilience in areas hardest hit by drought.

Now in its fourth year, Streaky Sounds continues to go from strength to strength, supported by the dedication of local crews, vendors, sponsors, and volunteers who help bring the event to life. The festival has fast become a highlight on the Eyre Peninsula's events calendar, attracting audiences from across South Australia and beyond.

Eventgoers can look forward to 12 hours of live music, local food and drink and free kids' activities, a real showcase of what makes Streaky Bay so unique. With a mix of nationally recognised acts and emerging local artists, Streaky Sounds shines a spotlight on Eyre Peninsula talent and produce, bringing people together for a true community celebration.

This year's artwork, created by local artist Lily Legovini, beautifully captures the vibrant energy of the festival and sets the tone for what promises to be the biggest and most exciting Streaky Sounds yet.

Community members and visitors alike are encouraged to mark the date, spread the word, and start planning their Streaky Sounds weekend. Artist announcements will be unveiled soon, with a diverse lineup of talent to be revealed in the coming weeks.

Expressions of Interest are now open for event volunteers and vendors, and those interested in sponsorship opportunities are encouraged to contact info@streakybay.sa.gov.au.

Meet the Artist Behind the 2026 Streaky Sounds Poster – Lily Legovini

For the first time, Streaky Sounds is proud to feature a local artist as the creator of this year's festival poster. Streaky Bay's own Lily Legovini has brought her unique style and love of the coast to life in a design that captures the spirit of our community and the festival.
We caught up with Lily to find out more about her background, her love for art, and what inspires her creativity.

Tell us a bit about yourself, where did your love for art start?
I am an artist and teacher living in Streaky Bay, SA. I enjoy camping, going to the beach, coffee dates with my mates and travelling the world.
I have loved art for as long as I can remember. In our downstairs studio at Sceale Bay, I sat watching and learning in the many mediums my Mum introduced, and it became a beloved hobby. When our family moved to Streaky Bay during my teens, this never changed, and art continued to be a passion of ours.
When I was in year 10, I went through the University of South Australia's art building on careers trip and was really intrigued by the Bachelor of Visual Arts Course. This was when I knew I was interested in pursuing art as a career. Mrs Box's year 12 Art classes were also a memorable time in my life and really inspired me. We spent many late nights in the art room, creating and dancing. We were a dedicated bunch and just loved hanging out whilst doing something we all really loved.
When I used to come home for Uni holidays, Mum would get the red polka dot tablecloth out and turn the dining room into a studio, where we would spend hours working on art projects, most afternoons. I love to draw in the sunshine or on the couch, when I'm on the phone talking to friends. I'm always doodling.

Can you tell us a bit about your journey as an artist, how did you develop your style, and what themes or mediums do you love exploring most?
Before I went to university, I had been mostly into drawing and painting. I had started trialling a little bit of lino printing, but it wasn't until Uni that I got right into printmaking as my preferred medium. I did bits of screen printing and wood carving, but I was always predominantly drawn to the lino carving. I love the process of lino printing: drawing, transferring, carving and printing. It is rewarding getting to see the end result of the process. I also love how you have to be quite creative in the process. The medium can sometimes be unforgiving, and you have to problem solve if things go wrong. If you are carving and your hand slips and you carve out where you are not suppose to, you have to problem solve and create something that wasn't initially meant to be there and I love the way that can change your thinking or design.
In terms of style, I would say it can be quite quirky and abstract, sometimes naïve. I am very much inspired by Henri Mattise and Barbara Hanrahan. I love Hanrahan's quirky and decorative elements and I love Matisse's figures and flowers. I am also inspired a lot by my travels. I often paint or draw scenes of my holidays for where I am staying or write about the places I enjoy as a creative outlet. I feel most inspired when I am on holidays as that's when I have the time to get really stuck into things like a project or series.

What was your inspiration for the Streaky Sounds 2026 poster?
I was given a vision board which had Matisse style elements on it. I played around with a couple of designs before I decided on the final. There were also a few fun festival line up posters, as guides. I quite liked the Big Pineapple poster from a few years back, so I aimed to incorporate some of that detail, in my style and tried to merge the elements all together to meet their vision.

What does creating art for a regional event like Streaky Sounds mean to you?
I was absolutely stoked to be asked to do this for Streaky Sounds. It was a really enjoyable process, learning new skills along the way. I am really grateful for this opportunity in getting my art out there and it is great to see the council supporting local artists for big events like this. Having my work associated with some of the headliners is pretty surreal.

What's next for you, any projects, or ideas you're excited about?
I was just gifted a new camera from a group of friends, which I am excited to use. Photography is a relatively unfamiliar form of art to me, but something I have recently developed an interest in. I would like to take some landscape photographs on my upcoming travels and use them as references for new works, whether they be drawings or prints.
I've really enjoyed learning about the digitalising process, throughout this project, so this is another new creative outlet I am keen to explore, in line with other ideas around prints.

A Seasonal Guide for Streaky Bay Gardeners

November in Streaky Bay means the garden is in full bloom—warm, sunny days, longer evenings, and plants growing at a fast pace. It's time to stay on top of watering, mulching, and pest control while enjoying the vibrant growth before the summer heat sets in.

What to Plant in November

- Leafy greens: spinach, lettuce, rocket, silverbeet
- Root veg: beetroot, carrots, radish, spring onions
- Warm-season crops: capsicum, eggplant, cucumber, pumpkin, zucchini, sweet corn, melons
- Herbs: basil, parsley, coriander (in cooler spots), mint

Tip: Water early in the morning or late evening to reduce evaporation. Mulch generously to keep soil cool and moist as temperatures rise.

Planting Natives

November is still suitable for coastal and drought-tolerant natives, especially if you can water them through establishment.

Try:

- Kangaroo paw – thrives in heat and adds bright colour
- Westringia (coastal rosemary) – hardy, low maintenance, and great for hedging
- Emu bush (Eremophila) – attracts native birds and tolerates dry, sandy soils
- Pigface and saltbush – perfect for seaside gardens with salty air

Tip: Water deeply once or twice a week instead of frequent shallow watering to encourage strong roots.

What to Prune in November

- Spring-flowering shrubs – prune after flowering to shape and encourage new growth
- Roses – deadhead regularly to promote continuous blooming
- Herbs – trim basil, mint, and oregano to encourage bushy growth
- Citrus – light trim if necessary, but avoid heavy pruning during active fruiting

Avoid pruning summer bloomers too early—wait until after flowering to prevent losing buds.

Gardening for Wellness

November's longer days make it easy to spend time outdoors—great for body and mind!

Time in the garden helps you:

- Stay active with regular, gentle movement
- Soak up sunshine for vitamin D
- Enjoy the sensory benefits of nature—flowers, bees, and birds
- Harvest fresh produce for healthy summer meals

Even a few minutes in the garden each day can lower stress and boost mood. Visit the Preventive Health SA website for tips on the wellbeing benefits of green spaces.

Helen's Orange and Almond Cake

Ingredients

- 2 medium oranges, whole with rind on (about 600 g total, roughly 300 g / 10 oz each, around 8 cm / 3 in diameter)
- 1¼ tsp baking powder
- 6 large eggs, at room temperature
- 1¼ cups white sugar
- 2¾ cups almond meal (finely ground almonds)

Method

1. Grease and line a 23 cm round cake tin with baking paper. Preheat the oven to 160°C.
2. Place the whole oranges in a large saucepan and fill it with boiling water so they're fully submerged. Bring back to the boil, then simmer gently for about 30 minutes, until the oranges are very soft. Top up with more boiling water if needed to keep them covered.
3. Drain the oranges, rinse under cold water, and let them cool until easy to handle. Cut into chunks, removing any seeds but keeping the rind on.
4. Place the chopped oranges in a food processor and blitz into a thick purée — a little texture is fine.
5. Add the almond meal, eggs, baking powder and sugar to the processor and blend until just combined.
6. Pour the mixture into the prepared tin and smooth the top.
7. Bake for about 60 minutes, or until golden and a skewer inserted in the centre comes out clean.
8. Let the cake cool completely in the tin before removing.
9. Turn out carefully and decorate as you like — try thin orange slices, curls of rind, edible flowers or a dusting of icing sugar. Slice and serve.

Ben's Sweet and Sour Chicken

Ingredients

For the chicken:

- 5 tbsp vegetable oil, 2 eggs, lightly beaten, ¼ cup cornflour, ¾ cup plain flour, tsp salt, tsp pepper, tsp garlic salt, 2 tsp paprika, 3 skinless chicken breast fillets, cut into bite size pieces

For the sauce:

- 1 tbsp vegetable oil, 1 large onion, chopped into chunks, 1 red capsicum, chopped, 1 green capsicum , chopped, 2 garlic cloves, chopped, 1 tsp minced ginger, 150 ml tomato ketchup, 2 tbsp malt vinegar, 6 tbsp brown sugar, 1 can pineapple chunks in juice

Method

1. Heat 5 tbsp oil in a large frying pan or wok over high heat.
2. In one bowl, place the beaten eggs. In a second bowl, add the cornflour. In a third bowl, mix the flour, salt, pepper, garlic salt and paprika.
3. Coat each piece of chicken in cornflour, then dip in egg, then coat in the flour mixture.
4. Fry the chicken in the hot oil for about 6–7 minutes, turning a few times until golden and cooked through. You may need to cook in two batches.
5. When cooked, remove the chicken and place it on paper towel to drain.
6. In a clean pan, heat 1 tbsp oil over medium heat. Add the onion and capsicum and cook for about 3 minutes, until slightly softened.
7. Add the garlic and ginger and cook for another minute.
8. Stir in the ketchup, vinegar, brown sugar and pineapple with its juice. Bring to a boil, then simmer for 3–5 minutes until slightly thickened.
9. Add the cooked chicken to the sauce and stir gently to coat.
10. Serve hot with rice and sprinkle with sesame seeds if you like.
